

EXPLANATION

AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY

It is fitting and proper that the people of this commonwealth should observe the three hundredth anniversary of the American High School.

This institution has become the school for all of the children of all of the people. The growth of the high school in the past twenty years has been phenomenal. It has proven its worth in imparting information, in developing higher ideals, for establishing finer habits on the part of American youth.

I sincerely hope that the high schools throughout this state will recognize this anniversary and have public ceremonies and programs that will impress its importance upon the people of South Dakota.

DATED AT PIERRE, SOUTH DAKOTA, this 14th day of January, 1935.

Tom Berry, Governor.
